

NEW OPERATIONS DIRECTOR ANNOUNCEMENT FROM THINKMARBLE

Monday 21st January 2019

LONDON, UK - Think Marble Ltd. (ThinkMarble) is pleased to announce that, as part of its growth strategy, it has implemented the role of Operations Director within the business. A role which has been occupied by Mr. Demyon Wright as of the 7th January 2019.

Demyon joins ThinkMarble with nearly 15 years of experience as a Head of Service Management in the industry and an impressive track record at; Verizon, MDNX, Easynet Global Services, Interoute and, most recently, GTT Communications.

Demyon spoke to us shortly after joining at ThinkMarble and told us what he is looking to achieve in his new role:

ThinkMarble is a young and dynamic company and a business that I'm excited to be a part of. There is a great deal happening in the Cyber Security space and the opportunity was one that was just too good to miss. The people here are what makes the company and we're on an invigorating journey. I used to work for the Chairman at MDNX and I'm delighted to be working in the same company as him again.

Right now, we are very busy, there are lots of plans and internal product development is rapid, so it has been a very fast paced start for me. We have an excellent team here and I'm really enjoying being a part of it and excited about what we are bringing to the market.

I'll be ensuring that, through our people and processes, along with continued use and development of innovative technologies, we can be robust enough to continue to address all our customers Cyber Security challenges and help them to achieve their business targets.

With years of placing the customer at the forefront of everything we did in each business I have been a member of, and my Service Management and Operational background, I will help ensure that ThinkMarble is best placed to grow and shine over the coming months and years and help to ensure that our customers can grow with us.

CEO Andy Miles had this to say:

We are very fortunate to have Dem on board, we only employ experts in their fields. Dem is at the very top of his global discipline, his skills and expertise will be a significant asset in the further development of our operational processes and procedures moving forward. His understanding of this industry, combined with extensive experience as a Head of Service Management, is anticipated to anchor planned future growth over the next three years. We look forward to making further announcements in the very near future.

About ThinkMarble:

Think Marble is a component level, end to end, cyber-security operator for Defence, Incident Response and Information Protection, monitored 24x7 from a UK Security Operations Centre.

These are all enterprise-grade services that are built for mid-market companies to cost effectively deploy. ThinkMarble customers achieve immediate confidence that the defences deployed in their business are fit for the cyber challenges of today, and that they are operating in compliance with the rapidly developing and changing legislative landscape for data protection.

ThinkMarble, recognised by the NCSC (National Cyber Security Centre – a part of GCHQ) as an associate member of the CyberFirst programme, became the first organisation in the South East to run the Adventurers course in October last year. These courses aim to address the skills shortage facing the cyber-security industry and are innovative ways to engage students with cyber security.

As information security thought leaders, ThinkMarble has found great success in assisting businesses both in the UK, and globally. ThinkMarble is made up of highly skilled digital security experts (many have worked in the MoD or alongside HM Government) with a lawyer-led team specialising in regulatory compliance, and deep IT Forensics capability for digital evidence gathering and recovery – they have it covered.
